The Committee has the authority to conduct any and all investigations it deems necessary or appropriate, to contact directly officers and employees and require them to provide any and all information and advice it deems necessary or appropriate, and to retain executive search, legal, accounting or other advisors it deems necessary or appropriate.

ANNEX B

DEFINITIONS

Independent Director

Under the listing requirements of the New York Stock Exchange, no director qualifies as “independent” unless the Board affirmatively determines that the director has no material relationship with the Corporation (either directly or through an immediate family member¹ or as a partner, shareholder or officer of an organization that has a relationship with the Corporation). In addition:

- No director who is a former employee of the Corporation can be “independent” until three years after the employment has ended (or, in the case of an interim Chairman or CEO, until immediately after his or her service as interim Chairman or CEO ends).
- No director who has received, or who has an immediate family member¹ who has received, in any twelve month period during the past three years more than $120,000 in annual direct compensation from the Corporation (other than Director and Committee fees and pension or other deferred compensation for prior service) can be “independent” unless the Board determines (with all independent directors consenting) that, based on relevant facts and circumstances, the compensatory relationship is not material and this determination is specifically explained in the proxy statement.
- No director who is, or in the past three years has been, affiliated with or employed by a (present or former) auditor of the Corporation (or of an affiliate) (and has personally worked on the Corporation’s account) can be “independent” until three years after the end of either the affiliation or the auditing relationship.
- No director can be “independent” if he or she is, or in the past three years has been, part of an interlocking directorate in which:
 - an executive officer of the Corporation serves on the compensation committee of another company that concurrently employs the director (as an executive

¹ An “immediate family member” includes a person’s spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, brothers and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than domestic employees) who shares such person’s home. When applying the look-back provisions referred to above, the Corporation does not need to consider persons who are no longer immediate family members as a result of legal separation or divorce, or those who have died or become incapacitated.

Employment of a family member in a non-officer position does not preclude the Board from determining that a director is independent. Such employment arrangements are common and do not present a categorical threat to director independence. In addition, if an executive officer dies or becomes incapacitated, his or her immediate family members may be classified as independent immediately after such death or determination of incapacity, provided that they themselves are otherwise independent.

officer); or

- the director serves as executive officer or employee of another company that has made payments to the Corporation or received payments from the Corporation that account for the greater of 2% or $1 million of the other company's consolidated gross revenues.
- Directors with immediate family members in the foregoing categories are likewise subject to the three-year "cooling-off" provisions for purposes of determining "independence."

For purposes of audit committee membership, the listing requirements of the New York Stock Exchange also require that, in order to be independent, a director may receive no compensation from the Corporation other than fees for serving as a director (and other than pension or other deferred compensation for prior service).

Under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and Rule 10A-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, an independent director, for purposes of an audit committee standards, is a director who:

- does not directly or indirectly² accept any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fees from the Corporation or any subsidiary thereof, other than in such person's capacity as a Board or committee member; and
- is not an affiliated⁴ person of the Corporation or any subsidiary thereof.

² "Indirect" acceptance includes acceptance by a spouse, a minor child or stepchild or a child or stepchild sharing a home with the audit committee member or by an entity in which the audit committee member is a partner, member or officer such as a managing director occupying a comparable position or executive officer, or occupies a similar position (except limited partners, non-managing members and those occupying similar positions who, in each case, have no active role in providing services to the entity) and which provides accounting, consulting, legal, investment banking or financial advisory services to the Corporation or any subsidiary thereof.

⁴ An "affiliate" of (or person "affiliated" with) the Corporation means a person who (directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries) controls, is controlled by or is under common control with the Corporation. "Control" means the direct or indirect possession of the power to direct (or cause the direction of) the Corporation's management and policies (through the ownership of voting securities, by contract or otherwise).

The definition of "affiliated person" requires a factual determination based on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances. As a safe harbor, a person who is neither an executive officer nor a direct or indirect beneficial owner of more than 10% of any class of voting equity securities, will not be deemed in control of the Corporation for these purposes (but a person exceeding the 10% threshold is not presumed to control or otherwise be an affiliate of the Corporation).

Executive officers, managing members and general partners of affiliates (and directors who also are employees of affiliates) are considered affiliates. "Executive officer" means president, any vice president

For purposes of compensation committee membership the listing requirements of the New York Stock Exchange also require that, in affirmatively determining the independence of any director, the Board consider all factors specifically relevant to determining whether the director has a relationship to the Corporation which is material to the director's ability to be independent from management in connection with the duties of a compensation committee member, including, but not limited to, (i) the source of compensation of such director, including any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee paid by the Corporation to such director, and (ii) whether such director is an affiliate of the Corporation, a subsidiary of the Corporation or an affiliate of a subsidiary of the Corporation.

Non-Employee Director

Under Rule 16b-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, a non-employee director is a director who:

- is not currently an officer (as defined in Rule 16a-1(f)) of the issuer or a parent or subsidiary of the issuer, or otherwise currently employed by the issuer or a parent or subsidiary of the issuer;
- does not receive compensation, either directly or indirectly, from the issuer or a parent or subsidiary of the issuer, for services rendered as a consultant or in any capacity other than as a director, except for an amount that does not exceed the dollar amount for which disclosure would be required pursuant to Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K; and
- does not possess an interest in any other transaction for which disclosure would be required pursuant to Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

in charge of a principal business unit, division or function (such as sales, administration or finance), any other officer who performs a policy making function, or any other person who performs similar policy making functions.
